

THE BEST SHIRT ON THE MARKET
COME HELL OR HIGH WATER

Drake's Eqwader™ (ēk-wād-ər) Hybrid System Series: WATERPROOF ABOVE, HIGHLY BREATHABLE BELOW

During the early and mid-season, one of the biggest challenges a duck hunter can face, other than killing a limit of birds, is dressing properly with waders. Too much clothing will find you creating your own personal swamp land inside your waders, too little clothing above your waders and Mother Nature will kick your shivering butt right back to camp. In steps Eqwader, the first garment to combat two totally different environments at the same time.

With 100% waterproof/windproof micro-fleece to fend off the elements outside of your waders and soft, comfortable, highly breathable fleece inside your waders, you'll be ready for hell or high water.

MAXIMUM PROTECTION AREA

Drake has placed 100% waterproof/windproof micro-fleece in the areas most exposed to the elements. Whether you're facing a light rain, wet dog or retrieving fumbled shotgun shells, this is the shirt for the job.

NORTH OF THE EQWADER: Center chest and back areas • Shoulders • Elbow to wrist • Outer half of the upper arm

MAXIMUM HEAT EXERTION AREA

Below the chest, this garments focus changes 180 degrees, delivering maximum breathability beneath the waders. The fleece also delivers quick-drying, next to the skin moisture management system for high exertion periods, while at the same time delivering superior warmth without weight or bulk.
